THE WORLD OF SOCIETY

Mrs. Von Rottenburg's Pleasant Welcome From Old Friends,

A Cabinet Dinner, Receptions and Other Events-Personal Notes.

Diplomatic and resident society gathered yesterday afternoon at Mrs. Boardman's at the tea given to meet Mrs. von Rottenburg and her husband, the president of the University of Rome. The beautiful house was gaily decked with spring blossoms. Assisting in the hospitality were Mrs. Hitt, Miss Van Buren, Miss McMillan and Miss Florence Boardman Mrs. John W. Foster was pleasantly assisted at her reception yesterday by Mrs. McKee and Miss Thompson. Representative and Mrs. Hitt will give a

Mrs. Ayres held an informal reception last night to meet Mrs. McKee and her sister, Mrs. Hamilton Fairfax. The ar-tistically beautiful home in New Hampshire avenue was fragrant with roses, pink, white and crimson, that bloomed in crystal bowls and tall silver flagons, and the lights bowls and tall silver flagons, and the lights were veiled with tinted shades. A special surprise, introduced by the hostess for the pleasure of her guests, was a quartet of colored singers, whose rich, musical voices rang out in the melodies of those old times forever gone—the slave days of the south. They sang of cornfields and canebrakes, of banjos and chains, of that forever-flowing Suwanee river and of poor dear Nelly ing Suwanee river and of poor dear Nelly Gray. Then the plantation refrains of "be-fore the war" era gave way to pigeon wings and the coon songs of today.

Among the guests to meet Mrs. McKee

RECOMMENDS NO CHANGE. Report of Engineer Allen on a Re-

street northwest.

The owners of property in square 516, bounded by 4th and 5th. I and K streets recently filed with the District Commissioners a protest against the granting of any permit to the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company, or any other company, for the erection of poles in the alleys and courts in the square, for the reason that their width is scarcely sufficient to permit of the proper transaction of the amount of business done therein. The protestants stated that the telephone company, under a permit which authorized is to replace five poles in the square, under-took to erect five new poles in the alley and court, which, if erected, would, in the opinion of the property owners, greatly hamper the means of access to the places of business therein, and greatly interfere of business therein, and greatly interfere with the proper transaction of business in the square, thereby lessening the value of their property. The protestants stated that they heartly indorse the efforts of Mr. John L. Schaffert, who is said to be seeking to enjoin the erection of the poles. Mr. W. C. Allen, the District electrical engineer, was directed by the Commissioners to investigate the matter, and he finds that the location of the poles is the best that can be selected, and at the same time that the location of the poles is the best that can be selected, and at the same time meet the requirements of the telephone company. He reports that a cable pole in square 484 is the nearest point from which the company can run service wires to the adjacent squares. The removal of the poles from 5th street, just south of Massachusetts avenue, has made a slight change in the method of distribution in square 516, the starting point being in square 484. Mr. Allen therefore recommended that no change be made in the location of the poles, unless it is found that they actually obstruct the entrance to some particular obstruct the entrance to some particular premises, and his recommendation the Com-missioners have approved.
